ANNOUNCEMENTS "DANTE'S INFERNO."

The Geatest Picture Ever Preduced, at James Clanoy's Poli Theater,

Yesterday was ladies' day at Poli's theater, that is, Miss Jewel gave a logue are 201 lists of daily papers, matines to ladies only, and she filled the house with the fair sex. Ques-order publications, agricultural, religious. matines to ladies only, and she filled the house with the fair sex. Questions of a personal nature were answered and as no gentlemen were admitted the women had full sway in regard to questions. Miss Jewel will continue to amuse and mystify today and tomorrow and those that have not seen her should avail themselves of the opportunity, as she undoubtedly is the most remarkable woman of medern times. In conjunction with Miss Jewel, the famous pictures of Dante's Inferno will be displayed on the screen in five reels. Next to the Bible and Shakespeare, the greatest monument in the history of literature is Dante's Inferno. It has at all pante's Inferno. It has at all the displayed on the screen in five reels. times, by the scholars of the ages been praised as a revelation rather than a mere poem. With all its power the great poem has heretofore been appreciated at its true worth by but a handful of scholars, while to the grand masses it was a hidden treas-moving picture, has furnished the key here, moving picture, has furnished the key to unlock this treasure for the benefit of mankind. The Inferno has now been accessible to all. A noted band of Italian artists have for more than a period of two years co-operated in an effort to give a reproduction of Dante in moving pictures which would be worthy of the immorial genius of the great Tuscan poet. The inforts have been growned with success, and the 190 or more scenes of this film conhe 100 or more scenes of this film con-date, represents practically the entire inferno. There is likewise a dramatic explanatory reading. They will be hown today and tomorrow only and they should not be missed, as they are educational as well as interesting.

BREED THEATER.

The Squaw Man's Revenge," Thrilling Western Stery.

The Breed theater offers today, for the first time in this city, one of the strongest western pictures on the market, and, as the title augusts, it is filled with turilling moments and ntense interest

A little white child found and not intend to return to his practice for rought up by the Indians, finally some time, Mr. Judson's lesith is 1912. brought up by the Indians, mully meets a man of her own kind. He fulls in love with her and marries falls in love with her and marries bur. The other men in the camp, how-aver, make life unbearable for the lit-tle woman, whom they suppose to be an Indian. They threaten to ostracise her husband unless she leaves the camp and in despair she leaves and runs back to her tribe. Her husband, driven to despair by this treatment, joins the Indians and with them lakes revenge upon the little community by destroying the entire settlement.

Seme of the Biograph comedy for whall the Breed is famous is billed, nd in sure to please its many admirers, while the Vitagraph dramatic feature is entitled The Heart of the King's Jester. This is a superh pro-Contion, classic in its scenic splender, showing the court and courtiers of the sixteenth contury at which time this

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR. Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color.

There is nothing new about the idea of using Sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our grandmothers kept their hair dark, glossy and abundant by the use of a simple "Sage Tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on whenever their mair tell out or took on a dult, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brow of Sage leaves, and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nawmonys we don't have to resort to the old-lime thesome method of gathering the herbs and making the tea.
This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves; and all we have to do is to call for the readymade product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing Sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp A PLEASING FROCK

THE BURIAL OF JOHN PAUL JONES. Under a stairway, back in the hall, Waiting to hear his country's call, Coffin'i in lead—a bundle of hones— Lies what is left of the great Paul Joace!

Found in its tomb by the morest chance,
Borne with acclaim from the land of France,
Brought with the pride of a nation's guest
To sleep forever in aplendid rest!

Here in the school where his trade is tare in the school where his trade is taught.
Where the lads learn how a battle's fought.
And how a hero's reward is paid in promises broken ere they're made!

First to the air he tossed the stars. The glorious fisg with crimson bars— Who steer'd the Rauger across the sea, Beating the British to make us free. Deep in his debt is this selfish land, Which pays the bill with a grudging hand. So bear him back to the rough North

Where the chalk cliffe rise against the Red are the waves where the Richard

But over the trees' wild harp-chords swept
The flerce, free hands of a singing gale;
And, back of my belted doors, I wept
For the cloud-velled stars and the Sypsy trail: The portal is strained, but the lock held fast, I broke the hinge, and I made my Walls for the tamed! For at last, at I knew that my roof was the tented sky!
Pull in my eyes came the slanting rain; Full in my face, like a silver fisi.
But the night and the storm were mine again.
As I struck my stride on the gypsy trail:
